Tuesday morning Thomas Shea a driver for the Richmond Radiator company at Thamesville, was driving his two horse dump cart across detracks of the Central Vermont railroad into the yard of the radiator company, when the northbound passenger train due into this city at $.13 o'clock, struck the cart. The cart was empty and was struck in such a manner as to be carried along on the fender of the engine. The horses, which had passed over the track, were unhurt, but Mr. Shea sitting on the wagon seat, was carried along with the cart for about 25 feet, when he fell off and landed beside the track. He was picked up and taken into the piant of the radiator company, and Dr. P. J. Cassidy, who was called, ordered his removal to Backus hospital in the ambulance. Mr. Shea sustained a possible fracture of the skull and suffered considerably from the shock. Before it tumbled from its resting place, the dump cart rode along on the front of the engine a distance of about 100 feet, when it came in contact with a freight car standing on a siding. The train stopped and the crew returned to the scene of the accident, where they found Mr. Shea in proper hands. When the train reached the station it was found that the entire side of the engine had been broken, one of the steps on the tender torn off and several ribs in the caw catcher damased. Two boys accused of being incorrigible were in the city court Tuesday morning and were sentenced to the Connecticut school for boys until they reach the age of 21 years, by Judge Brown. The boys, who were inmates of the county home, were William Wilcox of Griswold and Lafayette Caswell of North Stonington. Wilcox, who is 11 years of age, has been in the county home for the past 7 years, and Caswell, 9 years old, has also been of there for some time. It is claimed that the boys are naturally bad, are untruthful and have caused much trouble at the home. They were taken to Meriden by George W. Rouse. Two Boys Sent to Reform School.

EVIDENCE IN CHUTE CASE ALL IN

Argument to be Made Today in Trial of Mystic Man-His Defense is General Denial of Offenses Alleged Against Him by Small Girls-Theodore Coffey Pleads Guilty to Chicken Stealing in Waterford.

The trial of the case of the state against Richard B. Chute of Mystic on the charge of indecent actions with female children in Mystic occupied practically all of the time of the superior court here on Tuesday and such good progress was made that the evidence, both for the prosecution and the defense, was all concluded and the case is ready for the arguments this morning.

case is ready for the arguments this morning.

Mr. Chute, who has been a black-smith in the village and has also kept a junk shop, is about 70 years old. After the jury had been selected for the trial this morning, he was called to the bar of the court and new information in the case was read to him, containing eight counts. He pleaded not guilty. He has been out on bond pending the trial. His attorneys are John C. Geary and R. B. Denison. State's Attorney Huil is assisted in the prosecution of the case by Attorney Hewitt of the town court of Stonington.

Before the trial began the state's attorney had all minors excluded from the court room, and at the request of Attorney Geary all the witnesses for Attorney Geary all the witnesses for the state were excluded from the court room except when testifying. There are about 25 children and women from Mystic attending the court session. The children are in charge of a trained nurse and a state Testimony Begun. Photographs of the scene of the al eged trouble were explained by Frank ... Hale as the first witness, and Edward E. The Accused on the Stand. The defense was begun by placing the accused on the stand. He testified that he had been a resident of New Lendon, Groton, Stonington, Greenport, R. I., and Mystic for the last 30 years. He denied that there was aver any wrongdoing between him and any of the girls. He had known the Rathbun girl for about 4 years he thought. He had known Helen Roscoe only recently. He used to let groups of the boys and girls go upstairs over the junk shop separately to change their clothes when they were going in their clothes when they were going in bathing. He went up afterwards to mop up the floor, but never with any of the girls. He denied absolutely all that the girl witnesses had testified to as to any liberties he had taken with them and he told of having warned Leah Barraclough never to warned Lean Barraciough never to ion station come to the shop again after one certain immodest action on her part. He had at various times given the girls small amounts of money for candy.

On cross examination State's Attorney Hull tried to get the witness to exist a constant of the company of the compan
